

Second Chance Centers

Two-Year Anniversary

Three Locations, One Goal

Workforce specialists and corrections officers in Second Chance Centers (SCCs) located at Perryville, Lewis, and Tucson prisons are currently providing workforce readiness services to 335 inmates who are within 60 days of release.

Comprehensive Preparation

Inmates participating at the SCCs receive hard and soft skills workforce training, resume and job search assistance, job interview preparation, participate in job fairs, enroll in healthcare, and are connected to housing, clothing, and transportation.

Two Years of Success

Over the past two years, 2,524 inmates have successfully completed the 8-week SCC workforce program and 1,311 individuals have obtained gainful employment upon release.

Expansions that Change Lives

In 2018, reentry workforce services expanded to serve former inmates in two Parole Offices, two designated Reentry Centers, one County Jail, the NATIVE HEALTH central office, and youth in one Juvenile Corrections facility.
